A club that will foster basic knowledge and understanding of the financial market. It will center on doing simulated experiences on investing in a simulated stock market. Students are given an imaginary $100,000 to invest. The transactions that students make match the actual stock market values of the individual stocks. The club provides a fun and entertaining experience for students while at the same time allowing students to learn some important lessons about investing. Amongst the many activities is a mock portfolio competition aimed at giving students insights into the workings of the stock market. On a weekly or bi-weekly basis the club meets to analyze portfolios created by members. When the members fully understand the basics, we might form teams that could compete in a virtual stock market. The enrollment for such simulation will then have to be raised and paid for by the team.
